Is Held at Elkton, Maryland For Identification

(By Associated Press)

Philadelphia, October 23.—Sheriff Seth of Cecil County, Maryland, reported to the Philadelphia police today he had arrested a man on a train near Barryville, Md., early today, on suspicion he is William P. Brines, the university student charged with the killing of Elmer C. Dewes, the Dartmouth College senior here last Saturday night.

The suspect was taken to Elkton, Maryland, where Philadelphia detectives have been sent.

According to the sheriff the prisoner refused to give any information about his family and told conflicting stories.

LEADING ELEVENS LOCK IN BATTLE

Gridiron Holds First Interest Over Wide Territory.

Ohio State Faces Bulky Badgers Who Have Won Two Battles.

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, October 23.—Football play developing in to mid-season form exhibited by practically evenly matched Western Conference elevens today presented three big ten games the results of which were awaited in the Middle West as of great importance in determining the ultimate conference champions.

The Conference schedule today follows:

Illinois and Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Ohio State and Wisconsin at Columbus.

Chicago and Iowa at Chicago.

At Columbus, Ohio State offered its first strong lineup of the season. Ohio did not have its full strength in the Purdue game keeping William among others on the side line.

Today in Bliss and Stinchcomb the Buckeyes boasted two fast backs while William who probably will play today has gained a reputation as a terrific line plunger.

Wisconsin will have advantage over the Buckeyes in experience this season, having already faced two formidable conference foes and eliminated them while Ohio state has defeated only one.

The Badgers will also have the advantage on the line averaging ten pounds more than the Buckeyes. Both however, are drawing even money.

MAJOR'S BODY IS IDENTIFIED WAS MURDERED

Another Mystery Confronts The Police At Washington

Former Soldier Lured to Lonely Spot And Killed

(By Associated Press)

Washington, October 23.—The body of a man found last night between Washington and Alexandria, Va., was identified by the police and agents of the War Risk Insurance Bureau today as Frank M. Scanland, of Louisville, Ky., a former major in the army and during the war one of the attaches of the American commission to Italy.

Identification was accomplished through cards and letters found on the battered and bruised body which the police believed had lain for three days in a clump of undergrowth.

Authorities believe Scanland was lured to the lonely spot and beaten to death.

These are great days for the thousands of boys and girls in the agricultural sections of the U. S. who joined clubs organized under government rules and entered stock and food raising competitions. The bureau of states relations, department of agriculture, which is promoting the clubs to help increase production, is now rewarding the various prize winners in each division in the various states.

Glenna McHenry, a member of the girls' club at Columbus, Ind., raised the prize Jersey herd in her state. Her prizes were exhibited at the state fair. Donald West of Dell Rapids, S. D., raised the prize boar in the hog-raising contest in his state. And maybe he isn't proud of the fact, as the picture indicates.

CENTRE--HARVARD PLAY CLOSE GAME

(By Associated Press)

Stadium, Boston, October 23.—At the close of the second period of the Harvard-Centre football game today the score stood 21 to 14 in favor of Harvard.

WONDER TEAM

Boston, Mass., October 23.—An inter-sectional football game of far more than normal interest featured today's gridiron schedule in the meeting of Harvard University and Centre College of Danville, Ky. Attention was first focused upon Centre College teams several seasons ago when reports of large and one-sided scores began to be published.

Gradually the report spread that the football elevens developed at the little Methodist institution of less than 400 students, located in the Kentucky Blue Grass Region, were not the result of freak or haphazard conditions, but the fruition of a system which compared favorably with those governing football at the leading colleges and universities of the country.

When the season of 1919 closed and it was seen that Centre had rolled up 485 points against 23 for her nine opponents, and that two members of the team were selected for the All-American eleven, with a third placed among the substitutes of that mythical all-star combination, football followers throughout the country began to take Centre College seriously. She was invited to arrange a game with Harvard, and quickly accepted.

The team is said to possess a veritable running and overhead attack at most impossible to stop, and the fact that in four games this season Centre has run up the astonishing score of 241 to 0, indicates its scoring power.

What the "Colonels" as the Centre College team is nicknamed, would do against the powerful Harvard team, however, could not be foretold. Since beginning of football at Harvard, in 1874, the university teams have played up to the Oregon game of last New Year's day, which was won, 7 to 6, a total of 389 games. Of this number 327 were won, 51 lost and 11 tied. Since 1903 Harvard has been defeated but nine times by teams other than Yale or Princeton, and tied, under the same conditions, but five times.

STATE GAME

(By Associated Press)

Columbus, O., October 23.—At the end of the first period the score in the Wisconsin-Ohio State football game was 7 to 0 favoring Wisconsin.

STRIVE TO REACH COMMON GROUNDS

English Strike Situation Still Hopeful But Far From Solution

Informal Conversations Continue Saturday

(By Associated Press)

London, October 23.—Informal conversations between the government and individual leaders of the striking British coal miners were resumed this morning.

These discussions followed conferences between Premier Lloyd George and other members of the government. The secretary of the miners' organization was among those consulted.

The view expressed in government circles this afternoon was that the strike situation was by no means without hope of a favorable solution.

SAY M'SWINEY NEARING DEATH BY STARVATION

Remains Unconscious And Is Very Low

(By Associated Press)

London, October 23.—Grave reports were in circulation at noon today regarding the condition of Terrence MacSwiney on the 72nd day of his "hunger strike" in Brixton Prison. A statement issued by the Exchange Telegraph Company at that hour declared the Lord Mayor's last moments were at hand.

The bulletin of the Irish Self-Determination League on the Lord Mayor's condition stated the league had been informed he was in about the same state as recently. He was unconscious its information said.

Who Claims He Thought The Minister a Burglar

Had Been Charged With Rent Profiteering.

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, October 23.—The Rev. Frederick G. Ruff, pastor of the Memorial Methodist Reform Church and owner of an apartment building in Rodgers Park, was shot and killed this morning by Fred W. Sextro, one of his tenants.

Sextro, the manager of a coal company told police he mistook the minister for a burglar. He was arrested pending investigation of reports of trouble between the tenants and the preacher.

The Reverend Ruff was summoned before the council committee investigating profiteering several weeks ago on complaint of his tenants. Recently the tenants have posted signs in their windows bearing the words: "Unfair Landlord."

COX DECLARES HE IS NOT BOUND BY ANY FETTERS

Tells New Yorkers He is Pledged To None Except on League

(By Associated Press)

New York, October 23.—Governor Cox today told several hundred members of the Young American Democratic League, composed mainly of college men and women, that if elected he would devote his energies to accomplishing an industrial readjustment throughout the country.

One of the first steps he said would be the appointment of the "highest class industrial engineer available as a member of his cabinet."

Governor Cox said he was "absolutely free and unfettered by campaign promises—even in the matter of appointing a Fourth Class Postmaster." "Although I feel myself an utterly free man" he added, "I shall recognize my election as a positive mandate for the league of nations. I confidently expect to be elected but I will not consider my election as a personal or party victory but as a triumph of the great principle which the Democratic party represents."

FOURTH VICTORY OF THE SEASON WON BY LOCALS

Washington High Trims Hillsboro on Enemy Field 28 to 12.

Hillsboro's Rally in Last Half is Checked by Blue And White.

At Hillsboro Friday afternoon Washington high school won its fourth consecutive victory of the season by defeating the strong Hillsboro high eleven, 28 to 12.

Washington won by playing superior football, although the Hillsboro lads showed an aggressiveness that put two touchdowns across in the last half, after the first half had ended 14 to 0, and it appeared as if their chances for scoring against the smooth-working Blue and White machine had been eliminated.

Washington won the toss and received. Fullback Deen made forty yards on the first play and after several line bucks, that netted yard after yard, Halfback Lamb carried the ball across for the first touchdown.

After Hillsboro received on the kickoff in the second quarter Washington's men held their opponents for downs. Captain Rogers bucked the line for twenty yards and repeated doses of this attack placed the ball a few feet from Hillsboro's line. Miller scored the touchdown on a quarter-back sneak. Flee booted the ball between the bars for an extra point. The half ended with the score 14 to 0.

Hillsboro seemed to rally when the two teams came back on the field and worked several cross line bucks for substantial gains. Just before the period ended Hillsboro made forty yards, their only spectacular play of the game and then bucked the ball across. Goal was missed.

Hillsboro's next touchdown, shortly after the last quarter opened, was the result of a backfield fumble. A Hillsboro tackle grabbed the ball and with an open field sprinted across the line.

When Hillsboro missed this goal the score was standing 14 to 12 with the Washington team leading by only two points, but the necessary punch was not lacking.

At this time right half Lamb was kicked on the jaw in a line play and was hurt so badly that he had to be assisted from the field. Heber Deere was substituted.

On line bucks by Deere and Deen the ball was rushed the length of the field and the Hillsboro team was shoved back yard by yard. Thirty feet from the line Miller lofted one to Hitchcock and Washington had scored its third touch down. Flee again kicked goal.

Back in action again the Washington team began a march to the goal on the forty yard line and Hitchcock made fifty yards when he caught a perfect pass from Deen. Two line bucks put the team in a scoring position and the aerial attack, Miller to Flee, scored the final touchdown. For the fourth time Flee, a former Hillsboro high player, kicked goal and added misery to his former teammates.

Bright plays on the line were frequent with Stewart, Baker and Davidson, all new men, playing a veteran game, and with "Barney" Perrill making tackle and tackle that lost ground for Hillsboro. Both ends were in the scoring with a touchdown. "Big Red" Thompson played all but the last three minutes with a badly injured hand that he received in the first play.

We will not sell a new battery if we can give you better value by repairing your old one

The Golden Rule is not only good ethics—it is good business

“YES SIR! Success in our line isn't something we can grab—we must build it. We aim to prosper right here in this community of people who drive motor cars. We need their good-will. We don't try to unload a new battery onto any man who comes in here with a lame one.

“No Sir! We give our patrons exactly the kind of service they would want if they could know batteries inside and out as we do. That's the way we build up their good-will.”

There's no need to assume that your battery is worn out just because it has begun to fail. It will take us just a few minutes to open your battery up. Then you can see the insides for yourself. You can see how the plates look—and the separators. The plates are the vital parts. If they are sound enough to warrant a repair, and it is an economical investment for you, we will repair the battery. We'll make it as energetic as ever and insist on just one thing, and that is to give you an adjustment guarantee of 8 months more battery vigor.

But the day will finally come when you will know that your battery has lasted just as long as the best battery skill can make it last. Then, and not before, will we sell you a USL Battery—the one with the durable, Machine-Pasted Plates.

USL Batteries come to us “Dry-Charged.” That means that you get a battery that is as new and fresh as it was the day it left the factory. There is no wear, no before-sales deterioration, so you are assured of the full battery life.

We are a Golden Rule Service Station. We want you to know what Golden Rule Service means. Come any time—come often—we are here to serve you.

ALL THE BALLOTS

There never was an election, a time when there was more interest in election ballots, more sincere desire to study the ballots and the candidates and to learn how to mark ballots.

In the first place the class of new voters this year is an unprecedentedly large one. The women of America this year vote for the first time and they have a double interest in the ballots and the study of them. They want to learn how to vote and they want to study who to vote for on November 2nd.

And there is another very good argument for the sample ballot in 1920. The problem of getting the vote cast this year is going to be difficult beyond all precedent on account of the number of people who will go to the polls. Slow voting will mean distressing congestion in the voting places. Those who study the ballots in advance will be able to vote more rapidly as well as more intelligently than those who face a new problem when they enter the election booths.

The Herald, at the request of many of our readers, is today printing all the ballots.

First in importance is the Presidential ballot. You do not vote directly for President, but for electors who are pledged to vote for the candidates of their party.

There is no possible argument for a scratched Presidential ticket. By voting for some of the electors under one party emblem and some under another you would simply be neutralizing your own vote. The way to mark the Presidential ballot is to put a cross under the emblem of the party you desire to support.

The largest of all the ballots is the one carrying the State and County tickets. You can vote this ballot straight by putting a cross under the emblem of the party you desire to support. If you want to vote a scratched ticket you can go down the list, putting a cross before the name of each man for whom you want to vote. A second way to vote a scratched ballot is to put a cross under the emblem of the party most of whose candidates you desire to support and a cross before the names of favored individuals on other tickets. Care must be exercised, however, not to vote for more candidates for any office or group of offices than there are places to be filled.

The State and County ballot printed on this page is one which will be handed voters in the Seventh District. S. D. Fess is the Republican candidate for Congress in that district, while Paul F. Dye is his Democratic opponent.

Another very important duty of the electors is to elect Judges of the Courts.

We have this year to elect a Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Ohio, two Associate Justices of the Supreme Court for the long term and one Justice of the Supreme Court, short term, one Judge of the Circuit Court of Appeals, one Judge of the Common Pleas Court and one Judge of the Probate Court.

The voters of this county will have two short ballots to vote on next Tuesday.

One of these ballots is the one to approve or reject

Presidential Ballot.

House Bill No. 620 designed to secure more rigid enforcement of prohibition. If you approve the act as passed by the Assembly of Ohio vote "yes" by placing a cross mark on your ballot before the word "yes." If you oppose the law as passed by the Assembly place a cross opposite the word "no."

The fifth ballot is also a small ballot, and will be given only to the voters of the city.

If you believe in granting more money, by taxation, for public expenditures place a cross mark opposite the word "yes" on the ballot that will result in placing an additional tax levy of two mills on the property of the city and consequently increase the revenues of the city.

House Bill No. 620, Passed by the General Assembly of Ohio and Ordered Referred to the Electors of the State.

SHALL HOUSE BILL NO. 620 BE APPROVED AS PASSED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY JANUARY 27, 1920, APPROVED BY THE GOVERNOR, FEBRUARY 12, 1920, AND FILED WITH THE SECRETARY OF STATE, FEBRUARY 12, 1920?

To prohibit the liquor traffic and to provide for the administration and enforcement of such prohibition and repeal certain sections of the Criminal Code.

Study these ballots and learn how to mark them. To do so will insure that your vote will be cast as you intend it and it will also enable you to vote quickly as well as intelligently, allowing opportunity to all to vote. You will not if you understand how you want to vote and how to do this voting, waste your own time and the time of others.

KEEP FOR REFERENCE

CHILD INJURED BY AUTOMOBILE

Virgil Willis, seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Willis, of near Yatesville, was badly injured Friday night when he darted in front of an automobile driven by Lawrence Fletcher of this city. The child was attending a social at the township hall at Yatesville.

Mr. Fletcher was on his way to Soleda and was in the act of driving past the township house when the child, who had been playing about the road with others, started across the road directly in front of the machine, and was struck by the forward fender.

Mr. Fletcher immediately stopped his machine and after helping care for the child, brought it to the Fayette hospital in this city where it is receiving medical attention. In addition to sustaining a fracture collar bone the lad was rendered unconscious and spent a very restless night. Saturday morning his condition was improved, although he was still in a semi-conscious condition. No blame attaches to the driver of the car, the accident being unavoidable according to persons present at the time.

COLORED VOTERS OF C. O. P. HAVE RALLY MONDAY

Colored Republican of Fayette county are planning a rally to be held at Memorial Hall in this city on Monday evening, October 25th when Mrs. Moorman, head of the colored Republican club of Columbus, Ohio and Robert J. Barcus, from the office of the Attorney General of Ohio, will deliver addresses.

These 2 speakers are repudiated to be among the best colored speakers in the state and have been holding some rousing meetings.

Whelpley's Band has been engaged for the occasion and delegations are arranging to be present from many parts of the county.

Women are especially urged to be present and the committee in charge wants it understood that every body is welcome.

SCHOOL FAIR DELIGHTS MANY

The school fair that was given by the Community Circle at the Wilson school house on the Greenfield Pike Friday evening drew a large crowd, and was a great success both financially and socially.

The interior of the building had been transformed into a picturesque Halloween bower. A yellow and black color scheme was carried out in the children's cut outs of owls, witches, pumpkins, faces, black cats and hats. Marginals were also used in adding to the effectiveness of the scene. Padded decorated the booths.

The fortune telling booth was exceedingly well patronized. A large black cat with yellow bow guarded the entrance to this place of mystery, which was dimly lighted by pumpkin faces.

The tea room was a great drawing card as well as the fish pond and the ball throwing booths.

In the basement delicious hot hamburgers, pie, cake and coffee were served cafeteria style. Ice cream and ice cream cones were served upstairs.

The teachers, Mr. O. O. Bush, principal; Misses Elizabeth Davis and Martha Stinick, and the District Superintendent very ably assisted the Community Circle.

Nearly $150 was netted.

McCLAIN DEFEATED BY CIRCLEVILLE

Circleville High School defeated McClain High of Greenfield on the gridiron Friday afternoon 19 to 6. Greenfield players after the game protested that Washington High will defeat Circleville by thirty points when the two teams meet here next Saturday.

Circleville has a fast backfield and an exceptionally good drop kicker who possesses a highly educated toe, declare the Greenfield players.

Keep On The Brakes

Right now—it is none too early—is a good time for Americans to set the brakes, good and tight, on their impulses and their tempers. Every bit of brains and good common sense we possess should be put into active service immediately and kept on the job, during every waking hour from now until after the election is over and the votes counted and the result officially declared.

Our discussions with our neighbors, our friends and our business associates about political issues and candidates must be kept on a high plane. Personal and violent disputes should be avoided, unkind words should not be resorted to. Abuse never wins an argument and never helps a cause.

The campaign is turning now into the final stage and a concentration of effort may be expected. Up to a certain point we may excuse or soften the bitter words of those who are in the heat of the battle striving for success but there is no excuse for voters to permit themselves to be aroused to a fury with their fellowmen over political disagreement.

If your friend and neighbor doesn't see things political as you do and you are unable to "convert" him to your way of thinking by gentlemanly discussion don't try to abuse him into your way of thinking—that can't be done.

The morning after the election everything will look different no matter who is elected. The partisan fires now burning so furiously will be but charred embers and ashes. We will cease to be partisans and be once again Americans, all of us, and we must realize, now while the fight is on that, unless we have a care about how we talk to and talk about our neighbors, we will see in those ashes the remains of many priceless friendships.

The rank and file of the voters can only pass through times like these when they hold themselves under control. They must not permit themselves, even in the hope of gaining a political advantage, to do a wrong act. They must not start nor circulate falsehoods. We must be careful of ourselves and of our friendships.

Remember always that this grand old republic of ours is going right along after the election and our social and business life affiliations will be the same, no matter who is elected. The election is going to come out all right. We are all going to be winners when the turmoil is over and the old bonds renewed.

The Coal Men's Conference

The conference of coal mine owners and operators called at the request of the federal authorities for the purpose of fixing a lower price for bituminous coal and developing plans to bring about and maintain a lower price, faces great possibilities for good.

There is no reason why, if the mine owners and operators proceed patriotically, they cannot be of immense benefit to the people and at the same time benefit themselves financially.

Now, with the assurance of Attorney General Palmer that no action taken at the conference regarding the fixing of prices for coal, can be considered, as a violation of the anti-trust laws, there is absolutely nothing of substance barring the consummation of an agreement which will be helpful to the coal market—price and supply—conditions which are a disgrace to the nation and a crime against the people, unless it be, perhaps, the affiliation of some of the owners or operators with the iniquitous coal ring—that elusive organization which we all are convinced is in existence, "functioning" villainously and yet can't be apprehended.

The outrageous price of coal is caused, people are convinced, by the brokers who buy up mine outputs and then stand between the mine owners and operators and the people.

The high prices those brokers are demanding and receiving do not result in higher wages to the miners, nor in greater profits to the mine owners. They result in forcing into the already bulging pocketbooks of the brokers enormous sums of unearned money.

If the coal mine owners and operators would simply agree to junk their agreements to let the brokers have all the coal they mine and go out into the open market with their product the "corner" would soon be turned and the price driven down.

POETRY FOR TODAY

POLITICAL HODGE-PODGE

Some people declare that the Eagle will fall.
 Some say that the Rooster's entombment;
 Still others declare Mr. Harding will qualify.
 And some say the Governor's doom.

They talk and they talk, and they never get through Predicting what party will win.
 Each person one meets has a different view
 As to which of the men will get in.

The women are conning political lore
 As tho' it were for an exam.
 They've learned many things that they knew not before,
 And still they continue to "crum."

Each day brings its speakers to "tell all about"
 The way that a vote should be cast;
 But of so many things they are rather in doubt,
 Their hearers are hazy at last.

Yet out of the jumble of "Treaty" and "League,"
 And how to mark ballots the best
 The women are hoping to learn to proceed
 In manner that none can contest.

And whether the cock shall continue to crow,
 Or eagles shall scream day and night
 It's certain the women are going to know
 Just how to play politics right.

CLOSE FIGHTS TO DETERMINE THE CONTROL OF U. S. SENATE

"Republican Majority Out On Bail" He Quotes from Daniels

Harding and Republican Leaders Confident of Presidency—Worry About Congress

By Mark Sullivan.
 (Copyright 1920)

Washington, October 23.—As I have frequently said, the presidential situation has long run strongly in favor of the Republicans. The presidential situation is frequently spoken of as "overwhelmingly Republican" but this characterization is only partially accurate. As respects electoral votes and as respects the number of states carried, it does now look like a victory for Harding sufficiently marked to justify the word "overwhelming." But in terms of the popular vote that is hardly true.

With so large a state as Indiana likely to give Harding no greater a majority than 60,000 and so large a state as Ohio not likely to give him a majority greater than 80,000 and with the Republican majority in Illinois likely to be below rather than above normal—under these circumstances the Republican advantage cannot accurately said to be overwhelming.

The fact is that in state after state a not particularly large margin of voters who are normally Democratic will this year vote for Harding because they are tired of Wilson and the Democratic Administration at Washington. These voters are not large in numbers but they do not need to be more than say, one in ten of the Democrats, to make a margin sufficiently large to swing state after state out of the Democratic column into the Republican column. One in ten of the Democrats is the same thing as one in twenty of the total electorate. That is not a striking proportion. It is only 5 per cent.

Unquestionably that 5 per cent who are going to change their votes from Democrat to Republican exist. Any one who canvasses his own acquaintances will find one in twenty who is in this position. And one in twenty is enough to change the majority in a good many states. I am not saying that it is only one in twenty who will change; I am merely saying that that alone is enough to assure Republican victory.

However, it is merely academic to discuss to what degree the term "overwhelming Republican victory" is justified. As things stand now Harding is in the lead to such an extent that it is hard to imagine his being dislodged during the last two weeks of a rather apathetic campaign.

Senate Another Matter

So much for the Presidency. The control of the senate, however, is quite another matter.

One of the most cutting, but at the same time one of the most clever, things said in this campaign came from Joseph Daniels, a Democrat whose intellectual capacity is much underestimated. Mr. Daniels went to North Carolina a few days ago to make a campaign speech in his home state. In the course of it he said: "The Republican majority in the Senate is out on bail."

What he meant was that the Republicans have a nominal majority of two votes in the senate and that one of them is Newberry of Michigan, who is under conviction for having secured his seat through the illegal use of money and is now awaiting the result of an appeal before the higher courts. Pending the result of that appeal, Senator Newberry, as a matter of taste, refrains from voting in the senate. With Newberry not voting, either temporarily for reasons of taste or permanently for reasons more binding than taste, the Republicans have forty-eight senators and the Democrats forty-seven.

But one of the the senators who is counted nominally among the Republicans is LaFollette of Wisconsin. LaFollette is just as likely to vote with the Democrats as with the Republicans, and when he does, the Democrats have forty-eight votes to the Republicans' forty-seven.

Further, one Republican senator, Gronna of North Dakota, failed of re-nomination in the primaries. He successor will be either a Democrat or a Non-Partisan Leaguer. In North Dakota the Non-Partisan League has captured the Republican organization so that the Republican nominee to succeed Gronna, Dr. E. F. Ladd (who by the way is an able man) is really much more a Non-Partisan Leaguer than a Republican. He can no more be depended upon to help make up a Republican majority than LaFollette. If Ladd should not be elected, a Democrat will; so that in any event the Republicans in the future senate will not be able to count one from North Dakota, as they are in the present senate.

Situation a Precarious One

This is enough to show how serious the situation in the senate is with the Republicans. And it is not merely that they are really one or two short of a majority. It is worse than that. There are several Republicans in senate other than LaFollette who are not very dependable from a party point of view—Johnson, of California, for example. Johnson is never a very dependable Republican, but in the next senate he intends to be an Indian. He is practically off the reservation right now. He says openly that his present support of the Republican ticket is merely a truce. To his friends and to newspaper men privately he says more than that. He says he is going on the warpath the day after election.

Johnson has not got over the way he was treated by the Chicago convention. He was not merely defeated but humiliated. The man who made the speech nominating Johnson was laughed at, and Johnson was made to seem a little ridiculous. That is the sort of thing that generates action in Johnson. Johnson's personality is one that functions very powerfully on the fuel of a grievance. Most decidedly the Republicans cannot feel comfortable in depending on Johnson to help make up their control of the senate.

Another Republican senator who cannot be depended on as a party man is Norris of Nebraska.

Clearly the Republican senate majority, which is nominally two, and really only one, is in truth not a majority at all. And what the Republicans hope for and seriously need is not merely a bare majority but a comfortable majority. What they want and need is a comfortable working majority of six or eight. They want to control the senate. Any party that looks forward to be in power and contemplates changes as fundamental as the Republicans hope to make, and are expected by the country to make, wants not merely a majority but an easy working majority. That is exactly what the Republicans have not got. And whether they can get it in the coming election is the really exciting aspect of this campaign.

Senator Harding realizes this need with probably keener appreciation than any one else. I suspect he is giving more troubled thought to the senate than to his own fortunes. It will be noticed that every trip Harding has made away from his front porch, except one, was into states where there are senatorial contests. Twice on his way he spoke in states where there are no senatorial contests, but it is senatorial seats that have been the real objectives of his departures from the front porch.

Worried About Senate

Harding knows well what kind of a bear den he would be in for the next four years if he should have a hostile senate. He and the Republican leaders in the senate, and elsewhere as well, have an uncomfortable recollection of the tension that has existed between the Republican senate and the Democrat president. They know that just as they bedeviled Wilson so would a Democratic senate, if it should come about, bedevil Harding.

In the present tension, whether the fault is Wilson's or the Republican senate—which began it and which is most to blame—is of no consequence. The fact is that it has existed, and the fact of its present existence would lead to more of it if the situation should be duplicated the other way round during the next four years.

Furthermore, it is a fundamental part of the Republican program to get rid of that lack of harmony between the White House and the Capitol that has existed, not only in Wilson's time, but almost all the time for the last sixteen years, beginning with Roosevelt's break with the Senate and House. The Republican program is one of party responsibility—a single party dominating the White House, the senate and the house, and working smoothly and harmoniously. That is the Republican ideal.

Incidentally, the Republicans, if they are sufficiently confident or success for Harding and for the lower house might conceivably make an effective appeal to the independent voters on this very point. If they could convince the voters that they are sure to have the Presidency and the lower house they might say to the voters, "Give us also a Republican senate. Let the control of all three branches of the government be with one party. Help us to avoid the delays and deadlocks and futilities of divided control. Give us a machine that can function swiftly and smoothly. Put the responsibility on us, but give us the power to fulfill that responsibility."

As a matter of fact, some of the more thoughtful Republicans are beginning to say this. This is what Hoover meant when he said that party responsibility and a harmonious and effective mechanism of government are more important than any one issue.

The Next Senate

However, that is the concern of the Republican leaders. This article is concerned with examining the probability of the Republicans controlling the senate. Let us see just how great that probability is.

I have spoken of the present senate. Let us now consider the next senate—the one that will come into existence with the 4th of March, the one whose make-up is determined by the senatorial elections next month.

Of the thirty-four senators whose terms will expire, nineteen are Democrats and fifteen are Republicans. If each party should hold its own, the senate would remain just as it is—with a nominal Republican majority of two, but a real Republican majority of less than nothing.

Specifically it would seem as if in a year like this, the Republicans ought to do much better than merely hold their own.

But there is this differential, so to speak, against the Republicans: Of the nineteen Democratic vacancies, nine are in southern states—Virginia, Florida, Louisiana, Arkansas, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia (2) and Alabama. These will be filled by Democrats without any doubt whatever. There are only ten Democratic vacancies where the Republicans have a chance to make gains.

On the other hand, of the fifteen Republican vacancies there are only three cases where the Republicans are sure to return their men easily. These cases are Penrose of Pennsylvania, Curtis of Kansas and Dillingham of Vermont. Penrose, Curtis and Dillingham have the only Republican senatorial seats as to which the Republicans can feel perfectly safe. In the case of every one of the twelve remaining Republican seats, the Republicans have the hardest kind of a fight to retain the seat. The fights differ in degree of course, but there is a real fight in every one of the twelve cases. In all but one of the whole fifteen cases it is conceded that the Republican candidate for senator will run behind Harding. This is true even in the case of Penrose of Pennsylvania.

In nearly half of these cases the Republican themselves concede that if it were not a presidential year—if it were a normal year—they would be beaten by the Democrats. That is particularly the case with Watson of Indiana.

But there is not space here to go into each of these contests separately. However they can be summed up briefly:

The fifteen states in which Republicans are fighting to keep the seats they now have are Vermont, New Hampshire, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, North Dakota, Utah and Washington. Among these, the states where the Republicans have a particularly difficult fight on hand are New Hampshire, Connecticut, Indiana, Wisconsin, Missouri and Utah. There are also in New York and Ohio, fights of a difficulty such that if it were not a presidential year, or if it were in all respects a normal year, the Republicans might readily lose.

The states in which Democrats are fighting to retain their seats, omitting the nine southern senators already mentioned are Maryland, Kentucky, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Colorado, Idaho, Oregon, Arizona, Nevada and California. These are the states and the only states in which it is possible for the Republicans to make gains.

RANDOM NOTES

SOCIAL : PERSONAL MENTION : CLUBS

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Crouse of the Waterloo pike, was the scene of a delightful gathering on October nineteenth when friends to the number of forty gathered to remind the son, Delbert, of his nineteenth birthday.

Music and dancing contributed to the evening's entertainment.

The guests were: Misses Thelma Marchant, Donna Barnett, Lucile Thompson, Mildred Smith, Marie Andrews, Dorothy Ware, Marie Hughes, Grace Gerhardt, Doris Cheney, Mabel Hughes, Helen Gerhardt, Hazel and Mary Yeoman; Messrs. William Lucas, Jefferson Bloomer, Richard Thompson, Neal Hoppes, Sidney Bloomer, Robert Ware, Orville Turner, Wilbur Altemang, Kenneth Cheney, Ralph Pope, Fred Pope, Ralph Yeoman, Ralph Marchant and Harold Woods; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Craig; Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Woods; Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Yeoman; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Conard; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barnett; and Mrs. Jennie Thompson.

A jolly group of children in masked attire paraded the streets of Milledgeville and Plymouth advertising the Halloween supper to be given in the I. O. O. F. Hall Saturday evening, October thirtieth. The parade was headed by Marjorie McCoy, Gladys Acton and Helen Hankins on their ponies. Sherrell East and Estella Allen rode their elaborately decorated wheels. Twelve boys followed carrying banners announcing the different attractions.

"There were men, you know, who said that one reason why women ought not to vote was because they would never be able to discuss politics dispassionately, calmly and collectedly. They would get too excited about it. There was a sort of feeling that politics should be held a subject taboo at the family dinner table. It was all right when men lunched together or dined at the club, but out of respect to the women men were taught that they should not bring up political discussion at home. This sentiment prevailed here in America very much more than in England, where women of position and good breeding have always read and talked politics much more than most women have here.

Now, of course, this has changed. It women are to vote they naturally wish to discuss and listen to discussion of political issues and political candidates and out of all this has sprung a new social grace we must acquire and that our daughters must be taught—that of talking politics and listening to political discussion without becoming irritated or agitated, or at least without showing it. The hostess of today can no longer simply shift the subject away from politics as she was wont to do, just as if it were a really objectionable topic for her dinner or tea table, but she has had to learn the trick of keeping political discussion free from animosity and acridity.

No, we are not making a rule that politics must not be mentioned. We must be too well bred and take it for granted that we are too well bred to make this necessary. And so far it seems to have worked out well. It is really a test of our good breeding.—New York Sun.

Talk Over With Us the Many Advantages of Our Storage

It will not be a great while now until those cars which have been kept in private garages all summer will be nosing around for a place to stay this winter. To the owners of such cars we wish to say—

See us about your winter storage. Learn the many advantages the Arcade Garage offers in its service to storage patrons. We believe you'll find this an ideal place and will unhesitatingly pronounce us "A No. One" on such service.

It is most convenient for several reasons, one of which is this: While we do not operate the entire service, it is possible to obtain here in the building anything your car may require in the way of attention. These departments are under separate management, but it's convenient for the car owner, and we can recommend every one of them.

INTEREST GROWS IN THE CAMPAIGN

Interest in the national, state and county campaigns has shown a marked increase during the past few days, and promises to become greater each day until the election is over.

Both Democrats and Republicans are looking a little more closely at the main issues upon which they will express themselves when they enter the booth on election day.

Discussions are more frequent and of a more earnest nature than at any previous time in the campaign.

The interest is not confined to the men alone, for the women of the city and county have shown surprisingly great interest in every issue and particularly the League of Nations.

WARNS PUBLIC OF LEAF BURNING

He also calls attention to the double penalty in case a person walking along the sidewalk should have their clothing ignited and suffer serious or fatal burns, pointing out that such persons burning the leaves would be held liable.

Peaches and Cream

Now we've gone and done it again. But who cares if only we get the peaches and cream.

Unfortunately, peaches are not to be had the year 'round in the unpreserved state; but we can enjoy them while they are here. What better dessert could one wish than a liberal dish of nice, solid and full ripe sliced peaches, with pure yellow cream—either whipped or plain.

You have only to phone us your order to have either cream you prefer for Sunday. And it's pure. Cream is whipping splendidly now.

THREE BIG GAMES ON THE DIAMONDS

Cubs and Danville Will Play at Sunnyside Park in Absence of Athletics

Fast ball games will be staged Sunday afternoon by Fayette county teams if their opponents put up the same brand of ball they have been playing all season.

Interest probably centers on Jeffersonville this Sunday with the Jeffersonville Tigers meeting the Derby A. C. on the Jeffersonville diamond. It will be best of three game series and also the final game of the season.

Sunnyside Park, because of the absence of the Athletics, will not be vacant this Sunday. Danville comes here to meet the Washington Cubs, formerly the Arcade team and the game will be called at the usual time. Batteries announced are Browning and Rief for the Cubs, and Barger and Alkire for the visitors.

To play the second game of the fall series with the Sabina team the Washington Athletics will go to Sabina Sunday afternoon with the expectation of clinching the verdict.

PIONEER CITIZEN IS LAID TO REST

Funeral services for Mr. Christian Grove, whose death occurred Thursday evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William E. Sturgeon, on South Main street, were largely attended when held at the Sugar Grove church Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Moffet and Rev. K. B. Alexander.

Rev. Moffet's subject for the sermon—that of immortality—was well chosen, the minister declaring that man only knows his mortal self by his soul's development.

Full of tenderness and sympathy for the bereaved family was Rev. Alexander's words in which he spoke of the fall time as the most appropriate time for an aged person to answer the call.

Mr. Willard Everhart read the memoir. The choir sang "Abide With Me" and "Rock of Ages."

There was a profusion of beautiful blossoms, including special designs from the neighbors and a great spray from the Sugar Grove Church.

Many relatives from a distance attended including the children, Mr. and Mrs. John Fouk and son Howard of Greenfield; Mr. Omer Sturgeon, of Cambridge, Ohio; Mr. John Grove and family, of Greenfield; Mr. George Grove, of Jeffersonville; Mrs. Alice Markley, of Canton; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Grove of Jeffersonville. The daughter, Mrs. J. H. Custis of Cleveland was unable to attend.

Interment was made in the Sugar Grove cemetery. The pallbearers were Messrs. Tasso Post, Clark Post, William Hardway, O. O. Garringer, Joseph Elliot and M. J. Sturgeon.

MEAT ANIMALS DROP IN PRICE

Washington, D. C., October 23. — Meat animals have been selling by farmers for a whole year ending with September, 1926, at prices that were lower than they were in the preceding year by 14 per cent. The fall in prices compared with the former year, began in September, 1919. These statements are based on prices ascertained by the Bureau of Crop Estimates United States Department of Agriculture. Prices of these animals were gradually increasing to the calendar year 1914, but they fell 8 per cent in 1915, followed by a gain of 17 per cent in 1916, of 48 per cent in 1917, when the peak of gain was reached, of 17 per cent in 1918, and of less than 1 per cent in 1919. Now, for the last 4 months of 1919 and for 1920 to September, there has been a recession of price movement with a drop of 14 per cent.

FUNERAL SERVICES MRS. KARL SCHMIDT

The large gathering of relatives and friends which filled the First Presbyterian church Friday afternoon for the funeral services of Mrs. Rosina Schmidt, widow of Karl Schmidt, was mutually eloquent of the warm regard for one of the thoroughly good women of the community—a woman who, with many cares, was yet most conscientious in her discharge of the duties of her home and of her church.

The Woman's Bible Class of which he was a faithful member attended in a body and formed an aisle from the steps of the church, through which the flower covered casket was borne. The older pupils of the Centralized School, immediately across the road from the Schmidt home, also came in a body.

Rev. J. L. McWilliams, of Wilmington, conducted a deeply affecting service. He followed the reading of the memoir with a heartsome talk dwelling upon the loyalty and devotion shown by Mrs. Schmidt for her church and Sabbath School and her simple unquestioning Christian faith, and bringing thought of much comfort to the children and grandchildren so sadly bereaved.

The hymns "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," and "Crossing the Bar" were sweetly sung by Mesdames Roberta Harvey and Mary G. Burgett. Rev. McWilliams and Rankle Paul, with Mrs. Little G. Davis at the organ.

A long line of autos, many from the vicinity of the home northwest of town, followed the family to the Washington cemetery for the burial by the side of the husband, who preceded the wife of his youth and early romance, but a few months.

The pallbearers were Messrs. George Jackson, R. S. Quinn, J. J. Zimmerman, J. E. Shepperd, A. J. Walker, 3. Kingery.

There were beautiful flowers in great number, including special designs from the Woman's Bible Class, the Charlotte Tuttle Sisterhood and the Woman's Missionary Society of the Philothea Class of the First Presbyterian Church; Fraternal Order of Eagles, Mt. Eber School and the neighbors.

The out of town relatives were: Mr. David Helge daughter Flora, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Neff, Misses Irene and Anna Le Heigel, Mrs. P. H. Donahoe of Columbus, Mrs. Henry Snider of Newport, Ky.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincerest thanks to the neighbors and friends, for their many kindnesses during the illness and death of our mother, Mrs. Karl Schmidt, also the pallbearers and Mr. McCoy for their services and the beautiful floral offerings.

PARCEL POST USE GROWING RAPIDLY RATE IS CHEAPER

Look at this!" said a local grocer Saturday morning as he displayed a slip of paper upon which parcel post charges were noted on a shipment which would ordinarily make by express.

"The parcel post rate is just about one third of what the express rate would have been on a similar package from the same place, and then—well, I got this package within 18 hours after it was ordered, and one can wait for express deliveries until they get good and ready," continued the man.

Inquiry develops the fact that the parcel post business is increasing, and that many classes of goods previously shipped by express are included in the innumerable packages carried.

Indictments against ten men named today previously had been voted but were revoked to overcome legal technicalities. The other three, Abe Atell, Hall Chase and William Burns had only been officially mentioned.

Besides Chase, Atell and Burns today indictments covered two alleged gamblers, Sullivan and a man known to the jury only as "Brown" and the eight players owned by the Chicago-American League club against whom rube bills previously had been voted.

Two Miles South of Hillsboro, O.

Includes 7 horses and mules; 100 head of feeding hogs; 40 head of cows and heifers, including 14 head of Holstein heifers to freshen soon; one registered Holstein bull.

Anyone anticipating buying a Holstein cow can make no mistake in buying from this herd. The following letter from French Bros. Bauer concerning these heifers should be of interest:

Lebanon, Oct. 18, 1920.

Mr. J. E. Green,
Washington C. H., Ohio.

Dear Sir:—

In answer to your inquiry regarding the Red and White Holstein calf will say we considered her mother as one of the best cows we had in our herd and still have her in the herd.

She has been giving us about 12,000 lbs. of milk in a lactation. As for her color the original color of the Holstein cows was red and white instead of black and white as is commonly thought.

In fact, Mr. Green, all the calves that I sold you were from choice cows as we do not keep cows in our herd that do not give at least 8,000 lbs. of milk in a lactation.

I was very careful in making the selection of these calves for you. The calves are all from Tuberculine tested dams and sires.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS COVENANT

Forty-three Nations of The World Are Members

THE OFFICIAL COPY

Washington, D. C.—Following is the text of the covenant of the league of nations, as made public by the state department:

In order to promote international co-operation and to achieve international peace and security, by the acceptance of obligations not to resort to war, by the prescription of open, just and honorable relations between nations, by the firm establishment of the understandings of international law as to actual rule of conduct among governments, and by the maintenance of justice and a scrupulous respect for all treaty obligations in the dealings of organized peoples with one another, the high contracting parties agree to this covenant of the league of nations.

ARTICLE ONE.

The original members of the league of nations shall be those of the signatories which are named in the annex to this covenant and also such of those other states named in the annex as shall accede without reservation to this covenant. Such accessions shall be effected by a declaration deposited with the secretariat within two months of the coming into force of the covenant. Notice thereof shall be sent to other members of the league.

Any full self-governing state, dominion or colony not named in the annex may become a member of the league if its admission is agreed by two-thirds of the assembly, provided that it shall give effective guarantees of its sincere intention to observe its international obligations and shall accept such regulations as may be prescribed by the league in regard to its military and naval force and armaments.

Any member of the league may, after two years' notice of its intention so to do, withdraw from the league, provided that all its obligations under this covenant shall have been fulfilled at the time of its withdrawal.

ARTICLE TWO.

The action of the league under this covenant shall be effected through the instrumentality of an assembly and of a council, with permanent secretariat.

ARTICLE THREE.

The assembly shall consist of representatives of the members of the league.

The assembly shall meet at stated intervals and from time to time as occasion may require, at the seat of the league, or at such other place as may be decided upon.

The assembly may deal at its meetings with any matter within the sphere of action of the league, or affecting the peace of the world.

At meetings of the assembly, each member of the league shall have one vote, and may have not more than three representatives.

ARTICLE FOUR.

The council shall consist of representatives of the United States of America, of the British empire, of France, of Italy, and of Japan, together with representatives of four other members of the league. These four members of the league shall be selected by the assembly from time to time in its discretion. Until the appointment of the representatives of the four members of the league first selected by the assembly, representatives of Belgium, Brazil, Spain and Greece shall be members of the council.

With the approval of the majority of the assembly the council may name additional members to the league whose representatives shall always be members of the council; the council with like approval may increase the number of members of the league to be selected by the assembly for representation on the council.

The council shall meet from time to time as occasion may require and at least once a year, at the seat of the league, or at such other place as may be decided upon.

The council may deal at its meetings with any matter within the sphere of action of the league or affecting the peace of the world.

Any member of the league not represented on the council shall be invited to send a representative to sit as a member at any meeting of the council during the consideration of matters specially affecting the interests of that member of the league. At the meetings of the council each member of the league represented on the council shall have one vote, and may not have more than one representative.

ARTICLE FIVE.

Except where otherwise expressly provided in this covenant, decisions at any meeting of the assembly or of the council shall require the agreement of all the members of the league represented at the meeting.

All matters of procedure at meetings of the assembly or of the council, including the appointment of committees to investigate particular matters, shall be regulated by the assembly or by the council and may be decided by a majority of the members of the league represented at the meeting.

The first meeting of the assembly and the first meeting of the council shall be summoned by the president of the United States of America.

ARTICLE SIX.

The permanent secretariat shall be established at the seat of the league. The secretariat shall comprise a secretariat general and such secretaries and staff as may be required.

The first secretariat general shall be the person named in the annex, thereafter the secretary general shall be appointed by the council, with the approval of the majority of the assembly.

The secretaries and staff of the secretariat shall be appointed by the secretary general with the approval of the council.

The secretary general shall act in that capacity at all meetings of the assembly and of the council.

The expenses of the secretariat shall be borne by the members of the league in accordance with the apportionment of the expenses of the international bureau of the universal postal union.

ARTICLE SEVEN.

The seat of the league is established at Geneva.

The council may at any time decide that the seat of the league shall be established elsewhere.

All positions under or in connection with the league, including the secretariat, shall be open equally to men and women.

Representatives of the members of the league and officials of the league, when engaged on the business of the league, shall enjoy diplomatic privileges and immunities.

The buildings and other property occupied by the league or its officials, or by representatives attending its meetings, shall be inviolable.

ARTICLE EIGHT.

The members of the league recognize that the maintenance of a peace requires the reduction of national armaments to the lowest point consistent with national safety and the enforcement by common action of international obligations.

The council, taking account of the geographical situation and circumstances of each state, shall formulate plans for such reduction for the consideration and action of the several governments.

Such plans shall be subject to reconsideration and revision at least every ten years.

After these plans shall have been adopted by the several governments limits of armaments therein fixed shall not be exceeded without the concurrence of the council.

The members of the league agree that the manufacture by private enterprise of munitions and implements of war is open to grave objections. The council shall advise how the evil effects attendant upon such manufacture can be prevented, due regard being had to the necessities of those members of the league which are not able to manufacture the munitions and implements of war necessary for their safety.

The members of the league undertake to interchange full and frank information as to the scale of their armaments, their military and naval programs and the condition of such of their industries as are adaptable to warlike purposes.

ARTICLE NINE.

A permanent commission shall be constituted to advise the council on the execution of the provisions of Article I and on military and naval questions generally.

ARTICLE TEN.

The members of the league undertake to respect and preserve, as against external aggression, the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the league. In case of any such aggression or in case of any threat or danger of such aggression, the council shall advise upon the means by which this obligation shall be fulfilled.

ARTICLE ELEVEN.

Any war or threat of war, whether immediately affecting any of the members of the league or not, is hereby declared a matter of concern to the whole league, and the league shall take any action that may be deemed wise and effectual to safeguard the peace of nations. In case any such emergency should arise, the secretary general shall, on the request of any member of the league, forthwith summon a meeting of the council.

It is also declared to be the fundamental right of each member of the league to bring to the attention of the assembly or of the council any circumstance whatever affecting international relations which threatens to disturb either the peace or the good understanding between nations upon which peace depends.

ARTICLE TWELVE.

The members of the league agree that if there should arise between them any dispute likely to lead to a rupture, they will submit the matter either to arbitration or to inquiry by the council, and they agree in no case to resort to war until three months after the award by the arbitrators or the report by the council.

In any case under this article, the award of the arbitrators shall be made within a reasonable time, and the report of the council shall be made within six months after the submission of the dispute.

ARTICLE THIRTEEN.

The members of the league agree that, whenever any dispute shall arise between them which they recognize to be suitable for submission to arbitration and which can not be satisfactorily settled by diplomacy, they will submit the whole subject matter to arbitration.

Disputes as to the interpretation of a treaty, as to any question of international law, as to the existence of any fact which, if established, would constitute a breach of any international obligation, or as to the extent and nature of the reparation to be made for any such breach, are declared to be among those which are generally suitable for submission to arbitration.

For the consideration of any such dispute the court of arbitration to which the case is referred shall be the court agreed on by the parties in the dispute or stipulated in any convention existing between them.

The members of the league agree that they will carry out in full good faith any award that may be rendered, and that they will not resort to war against a member of the league which complies therewith. In the event of any failure to carry out such an award the council shall propose that steps should be taken to give effect thereto.

ARTICLE FOURTEEN.

The council shall formulate and submit to the members of the league for adoption plans for the establishment of a permanent court of international justice. The court shall be competent to hear and determine any dispute of an international character which the parties thereto submit to it. The court may also give an advisory opinion upon any dispute or question referred to it by the council or by the assembly.

ARTICLE FIFTEEN.

If there should arise between members of the league any dispute likely to lead to a rupture which is not submitted to arbitration in accordance with Article XIII, the members of the league agree that they will submit the matter to the council.

Any party to the dispute may effect such submission by giving notice of the existence of the dispute to the secretary general, who will make all necessary arrangements for a full investigation and consideration thereof.

For this purpose the parties to the dispute will communicate to the secretary general as promptly as possible, statements of their case with all the relevant facts and papers and the council may forthwith direct the publication thereof.

In Case of Success.

The council shall endeavor to effect a settlement of any dispute, and if such efforts are successful a statement shall be made public giving such facts and explanations regarding the dispute, terms of settlement thereof, as the council may deem appropriate.

If the dispute is not thus settled, the council, either unanimously or by a majority vote, shall make and publish a report containing a statement of the facts of the dispute and the recommendations which are deemed just and proper in regard thereto.

Any member of the league represented on the council may make public a statement of the facts of the dispute and of its conclusions regarding the same.

Agree to Avoid War.

If a report by the council is unanimously agreed to by the members thereof other than the representatives of one or more of the parties to the dispute, the members of the league agree that they will not go to war with any party to the dispute which complies with recommendations of the report.

If the council fails to reach a report which is unanimously agreed to by the members thereof, other than the representatives of one or more of the parties to the dispute, the members of the league reserve to themselves the right to take such action as they shall consider necessary for the maintenance of right and justice.

If the dispute between the parties is claimed by one of them, and is found by the council, to arise out of a matter which by international law is solely within the domestic jurisdiction of that party, the council shall so report and shall make no recommendation as to its settlement.

May Refer to Assembly.

The council may in any case under this article refer the dispute to the assembly. The dispute shall be so referred at the request of either party to the dispute, provided that such request be made within fourteen days after the submission of the dispute to the council.

In any case referred to the assembly, all the provisions of this article and of Article 12 relating to the action and powers of the council shall apply to the action and powers of the assembly, provided that a report made by the assembly, if concurred in by the representatives of those members of the league represented on the council and of a majority of the members of the league, exclusive in each case of the representatives of the parties to the dispute, shall have the same force as a report by the council concurred in by all the members thereof other than the representatives of one or more of the parties to the dispute.

ARTICLE SIXTEEN.

Should any member of the league resort to war in disregard of its covenants under articles twelve, thirteen, or fifteen, it shall, ipso facto, be deemed to have committed an act of war against all other members of the league, which hereby undertake immediately to subject it to the severance of all trade or financial relations, the prohibition of all intercourse between their nationals and the nationals of the covenant breaking state, and the prevention of all financial, commercial or personal intercourse between the nationals of the covenant breaking state and the nationals of any other state, whether a member of the league or not.

It shall be the duty of the council in such case to recommend to the several governments concerned what effective military, naval or air forces the members of the league shall severally contribute to the armaments of forces to be used to protect the covenants of the league.

The members of the league agree further, that they will mutually support one another in the financial and economic measures which are taken under this article, in order to minimize the loss and inconvenience resulting from the above measures, and that they will mutually support one another in resisting any special measures aimed at one of their number by the covenant breaking state, and that they will take the necessary steps to afford passage through their territory to the forces of any of the members of the league which are co-operating to protect the covenants of the league.

Any member of the league which has violated any covenant of the league may be declared to be no longer a member of the league by a vote of the council concurred in by the representatives of all the other members of the league represented thereon.

ARTICLE SEVENTEEN.

In the event of a dispute between a member of the league and a state which is not a member of the league, or between states not members of the league, the state or states not members of the league shall be invited to accept the obligations of membership in the league for the purposes of such dispute, upon such conditions as the council may deem just. If such invitation is accepted, the provisions of articles twelve to sixteen, inclusive, shall be applied with such modifications as may be deemed necessary by the council.

Upon such invitation being given, the council shall immediately institute an inquiry into the circumstances of the dispute and recommend such action as may seem best and most effectual in the circumstances.

If a state so invited shall refuse to accept the obligations of membership in the league for the purposes of such dispute, and shall resort to war against a member of the league, the provisions of article sixteen shall be applicable as against the state taking such action.

If both parties to the dispute, when so invited, refuse to accept the obligations of membership in the league for the purposes of such dispute, the council may take such measures and make such recommendations as will prevent hostilities and will result in the settlement of the dispute.

ARTICLE EIGHTEEN.

Every treaty or international engagement entered into hereafter by any member of the league, shall be forthwith registered with the secretariat and shall, as soon as possible, be published by it. No such treaty or international engagement shall be binding until so registered.

ARTICLE NINETEEN.

The assembly may from time to time advise the reconsideration by members of the league of treaties which have become inapplicable, and the consideration of international conditions whose continuance might endanger the peace of the world.

ARTICLE TWENTY.

The members of the league severally agree that this covenant is accepted as abrogating all obligations or understandings inter se which are inconsistent with the terms thereof, and solemnly undertake that they will not hereafter enter into any engagements inconsistent with the terms thereof.

In case any member of the league shall, before becoming a member of the league, have undertaken any obligations inconsistent with the terms of this covenant, it shall be the duty of such member to take immediate steps to procure its release from such obligations.

ARTICLE TWENTY-ONE.

Nothing in this covenant shall be deemed to affect the validity of international engagements, such as treaties of arbitration or regional understandings like the Monroe doctrine, for securing the maintenance of peace.

ARTICLE TWENTY-TWO.

To those colonies and territories which, as a consequence of the late war, have ceased to be under the sovereignty of the states which formerly governed them and which are inhabited by peoples not yet able to stand by themselves under the strenuous conditions of the modern world, there should be applied the principle that the well-being and development of such peoples form a sacred trust of civilization and that securities for the performance of this trust should be embodied in this covenant.

The best method of giving practical effect to this principle is that the tutelage of such peoples be entrusted to advanced nations who, by reason of their resources, their experience or their geographical position, can best undertake this responsibility and who are willing to accept it, and that this tutelage should be exercised by them as mandatories on behalf of the league.

The character of the mandate must differ according to the stage of the development of the people, the geographical situation of the territory, its economic conditions and other similar circumstances.

Certain communities formerly belonging to the Turkish empire have reached a stage of development where their existence, as independent nations, can be provisionally recognized subject to the rendering of administrative advice and assistance by a mandatory until such time as they are able to stand alone. The wishes of these communities must be a principal consideration in the selection of the mandatory.

Other peoples, especially those of central Africa, who are at such a stage that the mandatory must be responsible for the administration of the territory under conditions which will guarantee freedom of conscience or religion, subject only to the maintenance of public order and morals, the prohibition of abuses, such as the slave trade, the arms traffic, and the liquor traffic, and the prevention of the establishment of fortifications or military and naval bases and of military training of the natives for other than police purposes and the defense of territory, and will also secure equal opportunities for the trade and commerce of other members of the league.

Sparsely Settled Places.

There are territories, such as South West Africa and certain of the South Pacific islands which, owing to the sparseness of their population or their small size or their remoteness from the centers of civilization or their geographical contiguity to the territory of the mandatory and other circumstances, can be best administered under the laws of the mandatory as integral portions of its territory, subject to the safeguards above mentioned, in the interests of the indigenous population. In every case of mandate, the mandatory shall render to the council an annual report in reference to the territory committed to its charge.

The degree of authority, control or administration to be exercised by the mandatory shall, if not previously agreed upon by the members of the league, be explicitly defined in each case by the council.

A permanent commission shall be constituted to receive and examine the annual reports of the mandatories and to advise the council on all matters relating to observance of the mandate.

ARTICLE TWENTY-THREE.

Subject to and in accordance with the provisions of international conventions existing or hereafter to be agreed upon, members of the league:

(a) Will endeavor to secure and maintain fair and humane conditions of labor for men, women and children, both in their own countries and in all countries to which their commercial and industrial relations extend, and for that purpose will establish and maintain the necessary international organizations.

(b) Undertake to secure just treatment of the native inhabitants of territories under their control.

(c) Will instruct the league with the general supervision over the execution of agreements with regard to the traffic in women and children and the traffic in opium and other dangerous drugs.

(d) Will instruct the league with the general supervision of the trade in arms and ammunition with the countries in which the control of this traffic is necessary in the common interest.

(e) Will make provision to secure and maintain freedom of communication and of transit and equitable treatment for the commerce of all members of the league. In this connection the special necessities of the regions devastated during the war of 1914-1918 shall be borne in mind.

(f) Will endeavor to take steps in matters of international concern for the prevention and control of disease.

ARTICLE TWENTY-FOUR.

There shall be placed under the direction of the league all international bureaus already established by general treaties, if the parties to such treaties consent. All such international bureaus and all commissions for the regulation of matters of international interest hereafter constituted shall be placed under the direction of the league.

In all matters of international interest which are regulated by general conventions, but which are not placed under the control of international bureaus or commissions, the secretariat of the league shall, subject to the consent of the council, and if desired by the parties, collect and distribute all relevant information and shall render any other assistance which may be necessary or desirable.

The council may include as part of the expenses of the secretariat the expenses of any bureau or commission which is placed under the direction of the league.

ARTICLE TWENTY-FIVE.

The members of the league agree to encourage and promote the establishment and co-operation of duly authorized voluntary national Red Cross organizations having as purposes improvement of health, the prevention of disease and mitigation of suffering throughout the world.

ARTICLE TWENTY-SIX.

Amendments to this covenant will take effect when ratified by the members of the league whose representatives compose the council and by a majority of the members of the league whose representatives compose the assembly.

No such amendment shall bind any member of the league which signifies its dissent therefrom, but in that case it shall cease to be a member of the league.

A damage action decidedly out of the ordinary has been filed in the Highland county courts, and Greenfield parties are the principals.

Herbert Berry, the plaintiff says while in the employ of Barney McCourt the defendant, he was asked by the said Barney McCourt to crank an automobile in which the defendant was sitting. He says that he obeyed orders and that when cranking the automobile back fired, in so doing breaking both bones in his right arm, and that the injury occurred on account of the defendant in the automobile carelessly and negligently operating the sparkler while he was cranking. He says that his arm is permanently injured and because of loss of time and suffering that he is damaged in the extent and also $50 which was paid a surgeon for setting the arm. He asks judgment for $2500.
